Dear GEORGE A CALCUT:

We are pleased to let you know that the results of the dispute you recently filed with Equifax are complete. Here are a few things to know about the process:

Were changes made to my credit report and what actions were taken?

Please see the following page(s) for more detailed information on your specific results.

If we were able to make changes to your credit report based on the information you provided, we have done so. Otherwise, we contacted the company reporting the information to Equifax for them to investigate your dispute.

In this situation:

- We request that the reporting company verify the accuracy of the information you disputed;
- We provide them with any relevant information and supporting documentation you provided us with the dispute to consider as part of the investigation; and
- We request that they send Equifax a response to your dispute and update their records and systems, as necessary.

If your dispute involves a public record item, Equifax contacts a third party vendor to obtain the most recent status of the public record.

How do I know that all of this is happening?

When the reporting company replies to us, they certify that they have followed Equifax's instructions and the law; considered all information and documentation provided; and updated your information, as necessary.

What should I do if I do not agree with the results of the investigation?

You have a few options:

- You may add a statement of up to 100 words (200 words for Maine residents) to your credit report. If you provide a consumer statement that contains

What else should I know?

Also, if you are interested, you may request a description of how the reinvestigation was conducted along with the business name, address and telephone number (if reasonably available) of the furnisher of your disputed information.
